Brand

WIWI is an African discovery, recognition and business intelligence platform built to identify, document, profile, connect and celebrate the people, professionals, entrepreneurs, organisations and institutions shaping Africa.

Africa has no shortage of exceptional people, businesses, institutions and emerging leaders. However, their stories, achievements, contributions and professional identities are often scattered across social media, websites, news publications and disconnected professional networks.

There is a gap between being accomplished and being discoverable. There is also a gap between making an impact today and ensuring that the impact is remembered tomorrow.

WIWI exists to close that gap.

INFLUENCE. ACHIEVEMENT. LEGACY.

These three words define everything WIWI represents.

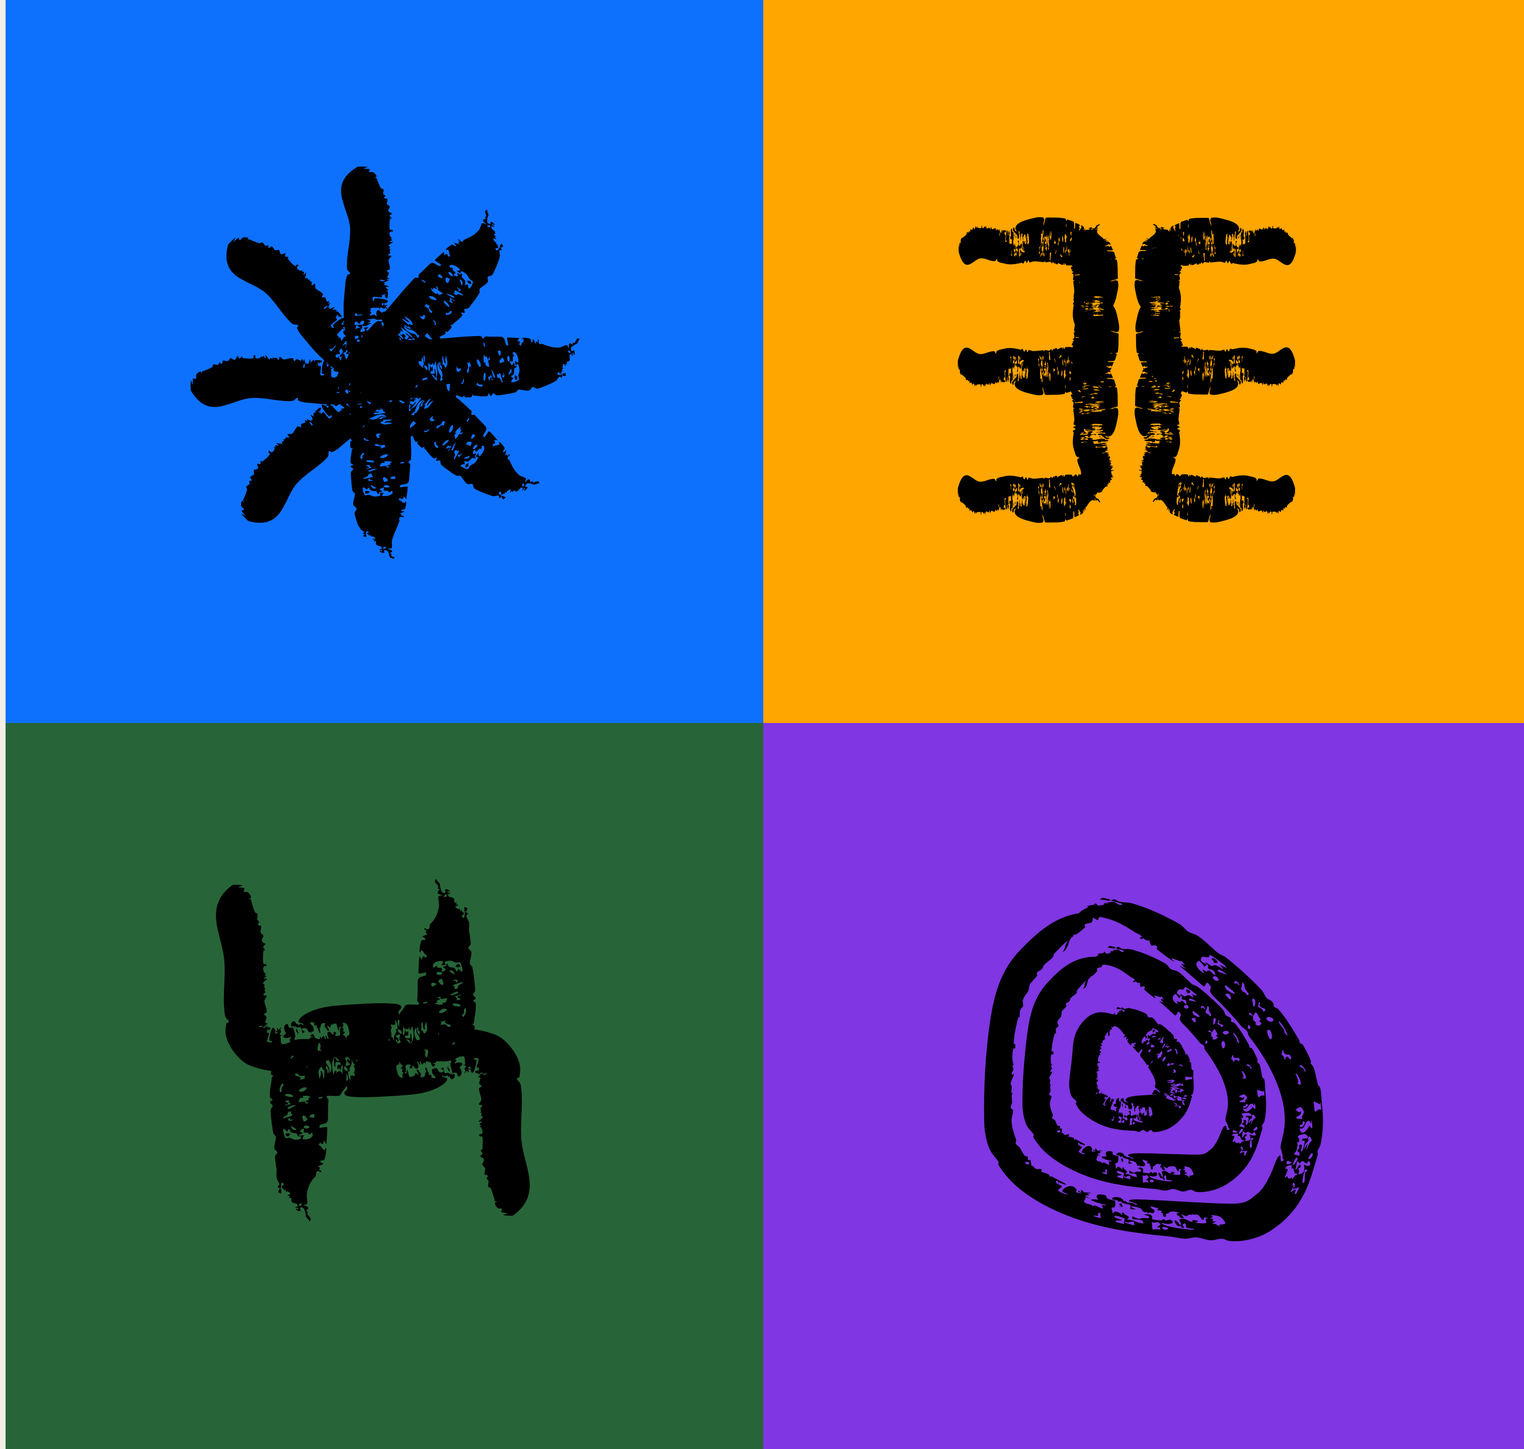

- Influence is about the people and organisations making a difference and shaping the world around them.
- Achievement is about the milestones, contributions, innovations and accomplishments that deserve recognition.
- Legacy is about the lasting impact people and institutions leave behind.

WIWI exists to document influence, celebrate achievement and preserve legacy.

Pattern System

The WiWiAfrica pattern is created by leveraging Africa's visual assets in hand drawn traditional pattern. Assets are organised in varying shades of a single colour, with the option to introduce one accent colour for emphasis.

The pattern should maintain a clean, balanced, and consistent arrangement while allowing flexibility across different brand applications.

Color System

Seven colors carry the entire system.

Primary Typeface

The primary typeface is the core of WiWi Africa typographic identity. It should be used consistently across headlines, key messages, and prominent brand communications to create a clear, distinctive, and cohesive visual language.
